

"JEFF" DAVIS AND THE POPE

LISTEN, FRIENDS

During the Civil War when this country was wading up to the knees in blood the Roman Catholic Church worked day and night to get her hand on the political control of this country, as she has done all through the ages since she was organized.

Rome didn't know whether the North or South was going to prove strongest and threw in her lot with the South.

Stories have been told of her underhand work, but never have they been told like they are told in this new book, just from the press.

This story is told by an old Confederate Veteran. He doesn't give his own knowledge of the affair, but he gives documentary evidence. He gives the letters that were passed between representatives of the pope and representatives of Jeff Davis.

This Is a Book Every Southern Man or Woman Should Read

Yes, this is a book that every man and woman in the United States should read, whether they belong to the North or South. Let us know the truth and the truth shall set us free.

The first book, "Jeff Davis and the Pope," is going into the mail as I write this advertisement. We expect the first edition to run out very soon, so if you want your copy sit right down now and send us your order.

90c per copy, Art Paper Cover. Wholesale prices to Agents and dealers, $7.20 per dozen in solid dozen lots only.